

PORT QUESTIONNAIRE

NAME OF PORT: SALAVERRY

Phonetic pronunciation: sah-lah-VER-ree

Is this port city the same as the Cruise Line's advertised destination? Yes No

Please provide a brief OPERATIONAL port description

Salaverry, Trujillo, is located 258 nautical miles from the port of Callao in Lima. It is a combined ferry and industrial port, but during the cruise season it is well prepared with tourist facilities. The port is an artificial port or "pier port", frequently exposed to sea swells. The pier provided for cruise vessels extends 700 meters into the harbor from shoreline and is large enough for a number of couches to park and turn around.

DESTINATION DETAILS

Please provide a DESTINATION description that would be useful for marketing purposes.
Probably the most under-emphasized region in Peru for tourists is the north of Peru, and the archaeological sites to be found there. Closest to Lima is the 'capital of the Peruvian North', Trujillo. The area has been inhabited since before the birth of Christ, but first rose to prominence with the Mochica culture from 100 – 700 AD. The city as we know it today was founded in 1534, and named after Trujillo de Extremadura, Francisco Pizarro's home province in Spain. It has many examples of distinctive architecture and is famous for its artists and Peruvian Paso horses. Today it is a great launching pad for a trip to the north of Peru. Chiclayo, just over 200 kilometres further north of Trujillo was home to the famous "Lord of Sipan", probably the most important archaeological find in the Americas, often compared to that of King Tut in Egypt. It is now the largest commercial centre in northern Peru, but retains a festive character, and in fact a common local saying is "work can wait, but never a party!"
